Jimmy Adler Grease Alley

The long awaited latest recording by Jimmy Adler has arrived! Jimmy plays the blues clean through his amplifier with a swinging sensibility, yet he can also cut deep into the soul with stinging sounds and ferocious slide guitar. Always gritty, soulful, and sweet, this Pittsburgh based blues guitarist is a respected performer who continues to expand his journey and make new fans and friends along the way.

Jimmy traveled to California to record Grease Alley with the award winning, musical visionary, Kid Andersen at Greaseland Studio. This latest recording features Kid producing and playing both upright and electric bass, as well as drummer extraordinaire June Core, legendary keyboardist Jim Pugh, and superb sax man Eric Spaulding. In addition, Jimmy was honored to have the creative genius of Chris Cain appear on two songs. The end result is a record steeped in the blues tradition where Jimmy surrounds himself with masters of the genre and creates all original songs that are played in a variety of styles ranging from swampy to swing. The themes explored include pleasure, pain, and purpose.

Jimmy is a live wire performer who packs pleasure and energy into every performance! "Say it Like Magic Sam" has a classic Texas swing sound, "Love was Worth These Blues" is a minor key ballad, and "What I've Done" is a soulful song that deals with the passing of time. Jimmy Adler taps into the essence of the blues and brings forth a variety of flavors that will satisfy the blues lover and whet the appetite of those new to the genre.
